HOW TO GET SOMETHING OUT OF NOTHING.

Those who fancy, that the breach in the Democratic party growing out of the Lecompton fight and the later squabble about Unfriendly Legislation, will result in any great diminution of their strength in 1860, have observed the down-hill progress of that party in regard to principles, and its up-hill battle for the spoils, to very little purpose. Both wings of the belligerants—that belonging to Douglas and the other represented by Buchanan—are wholly given over to slave-driving, and it is idle to suppose that when the boodle of eighty or ninety millions of dollars per annum and the privilege of squandering it, is before the people, they will haggle over such an abstraction as whether slavery should get possession of the Territories by this or that particular process. The Forney and Hickman Democracy of Pennsylvania, who sympathize to a certain extent with Douglas, have indeed united with the Republicans on a State ticket to be voted for in October. But there is no evidence that Mr. Douglas himself approves of the move. His Chicago organ expressly repudiated the principles laid down by Mr. Hickman at the preliminary Convention; and the platform upon which Messrs. Cochran and Keim have gone before the people, is a flat contradiction of his whole political life. We may therefore conclude that Mr. Douglas has surveyed the political field and ascertained that he can make nothing by breaking with the Charleston Convention. And according to all the canons of Democratic faith this is sufficient reason why he should not break with it.

Buchanan never had any better reason for quarreling with Douglas than Douglas for quarreling with Buchanan—to wit, the Federal spoils. Among the initiated the declamation of the one about his "great principle" evokes a horse laugh, equal in hilarity to that of Cicero's two augurs discussing on a street corner the latest revelations from bullock's entrails; while the silky insinuations of the other as to the "final settlement" effected by the Dred Scott decision, are always accompanied by a wink from the President's worst eye and an admiring chuckle from his auditors. This much of principle stands in the way of a complete reconciliation at Charleston—and no more. The representatives of the rank and file—to wit, those who will have scuffled themselves into the Convention for the purpose of driving sharp bargains with the candidates—will have no more reason for protracting the discord than their principles. In short, the Charleston delegates, who will be all-powerful in the premises, will have reasons, equivalent to a small fortune for each man, and a large one to the more experienced wire-workers, for closing the breach at once, and putting all things rigidly in statu quo ante bellum. They will, if need be, extort the written promises of Douglas, Buchanan, Hunter, Davis, Dickinson, Slidell, and the rest of the gang, to support, blindly and unreservedly, the nominee of the party, whoever he may be, or whatever platform is thrust under him. The impudent fellow who shall raise the question of "principle," or suggest one set of principles as being intrinsically better than another, will be laughed down for an idiot. No man will be entitled to a vote in the Convention who cannot understand the logic of a consulship or a contract.

We make these suggestions for the enlightenment of those who believe that the Democratic quarrel is likely to end in a Republican victory without downright hard work from the beginning to the end of the conflict. Everything may be expected from earnest and protracted labor in behalf of Republican principles, but nothing from either the indolence or the discords of the Democracy. All vaticinations based upon the devotion of the Douglasites to one style of belief and that of any other faction to another, will come to nought. They are but a new statement of the old problem, How to get something out of nothing. Nature has forbidden it; it cannot be done.

WENTWORTH'S ATTEMPT TO DESTROY THE PUBLIC CREDIT OF CHICAGO.

"This City Administration has already borrowed on paper running not to exceed a year several hundred thousand dollars, and for what purpose no man can tell, as the city is now making no permanent improvements.

"The charter prohibits the city from borrowing over $100,000 in any year. It is proposed to call sums running less than one year not borrowed, and thus have power to borrow $100,000 on a long time, and then run in debt still more on short time. An injunction is applied for to arrest this extravagance and prodigality, this Republican party violation of the ... more long bonds, and to curtail the expenses to ten mills."—Last Sunday's Democrat.

We are not willing that a statement like this, coming from a pretended Republican, shall go abroad uncontradicted, to be used in the New York money market to discredit the financial character of Chicago. Wentworth's avowed object in writing the article from which we make the extract, was to embarrass the Administration of Mr. Haines and to injure it in the estimation of the public. He was actuated by revengeful motives. He attempted to make a tool of the chief Executive officer, and be Mayor himself; but failing in this, he has become as venomous as a copper-head, and is devoting all his base energies to break down the Administration.

The article in question tries to create the impression that Haines is running a career of "extravagance and prodigality," and plunging the city into a quagmire of debt. To this we reply, that the liabilities of the city have not been increased a dollar since the day Wentworth stepped out of the Mayor's office; and we challenge His ex-Honor to show the contrary. When Wentworth became Mayor, he found a large floating debt in existence. He went to work and borrowed from the banks and money lenders several hundred thousand dollars, at high rates of interest, issuing "short bonds" therefor. His next step was to levy a seventeen mills tax upon the property of the city. He proclaimed to the people, that with the proceeds of this large tax he would pay off all the old Dyer liabilities, and turn the city over to his successor clear of all debts, dues and demands, save the old funded debt. Our readers will bear us witness that these pledges were made and repeated over and over again. When his year expired, he announced with a grand flourish in his paper, that he had redeemed all his promises, that the floating debt had all been paid off, that the City Treasury was full, and that henceforth ten mills of taxation would suffice to carry on the Municipal Government. He succeeded in making the people generally suppose that he was telling the truth. He abused the confidence reposed in him by the new Mayor, and actually got Mr. Haines to believe that the city was out of debt, and that a ten mills tax would raise enough money to meet all drafts upon the City Treasury; and it was not until after he had so stated in his Inaugural that he discovered he had been imposed upon.

When the first of May, 1858, came, Mayor Haines found that there was no money in the Treasury; that a large quantity of Wentworth's "short bonds" were falling due; that he would have to carry on the government for eight months as best he could, until the fall's taxes would begin to come in. He had no other possible recourse left than to borrow money on bonds running until the next taxes would fall due.

Besides having to carry on the City Government on an empty Treasury, he was called on to pay $167,000 of debt, not a cent of which was incurred during his term, but was thrown over from Wentworth's Administration upon him. Dyer's Administration shoved upon Wentworth's $219,866, and (besides adding $100,000 to the funded debt) the latter shoved over upon Haines $167,030—showing that, notwithstanding he levied a seventeen mills tax, he only reduced the floating debt $43,836. As he commenced no permanent improvements, save Dearborn Park, this result after all his laudation is a shabby showing, it must be confessed.

A tax of thirteen mills was assessed last year. This yielded $135,000 less revenue than the seventeen mills levied under Wentworth. At the end of the last municipal year, Feb. 1, 1859, the finances stood as follows, as shown by the Comptroller's Report.

Outstanding liabilities	$404,189
Assets to apply	272,929
Deficit	$131,260

This is $36,000 less, it will be observed, than the deficit left behind by Wentworth for Haines to pay. Notwithstanding the latter latter levied $135,000 less taxes upon the people than the former.

In the face of these facts and figures, Wentworth has the hardihood to state that "no man can tell for what purpose the city needs money!" and that "an injunction is applied for to arrest this extravagance and prodigality!"

Wentworth himself, is the main cause of the present want of money. Had he honestly stated the truth in regard to the city finances to his successor, a rate of taxation would have been levied, which would have cleared away the old liabilities, and left the city only to provide sufficient funds for current uses between the first day of May 1859 and tax paying time. But in order to retire from office with a little financial credit, he perpetrated a villainous fraud not only upon his successor but on the people of the city, creating the belief that he had squared off all the floating debt and left the treasury in condition to subsist and flourish on a ten mill tax! He is now engaged in getting up injunction suits to restrain the city from providing for the payment of his own deficits. Preserving the fair credit of Chicago he denounces as "extravagance and prodigality," and the purpose of reducing the short 10 per cent bonds to long 7 per cents, is called "running the city in debt." This people have been afflicted with Dyers, Grangers, Prendergasts and O'Malleys, and supposed they had ended the catalogue; but the biggest nuisance they have yet endured seems to have been reserved for the last.

Latest from Pike's Peak.

We have the Rocky Mountain News of May 28th, published in the Pike's Peak region. We find in it no confirmation of the stories told by telegraph of the discovery of large deposits of gold; but we have the assurances of the editor that he has been in the mountains, 25 to 40 miles from Cherry Creek, where he found any number of men getting $5 to $30 a day for their mining labor. He says:

Entering the mountains we will first look at the mines or washings on Vasquez River, about 35 miles from the mouth of Cherry Creek in a direction a little north of west in Latitude 40 degrees. These were discovered about the tenth of May by the "Chicago Company," and are now worked by some 300 men, many of whom are making from 5 to 8 dollars per day with very indifferent mining facilities. The extent of these diggings is about two by five miles and no more has yet been prospected with any care. The Chicago Co. have located their claims on Chicago creek, a tributary of the above stream, and are preparing to mine on an extensive scale. They have set their pile at high figures and feel very confident.

The News speaks of another claim as yielding $80 to $100 per day, with four men; a second doing quite as well; a third ditto; a fourth $50, six men; a fifth doing better; a sixth $30 a day one man—all of which he avers he saw with his own eyes! He speaks confidently of quartz veins and of enormous expected yields.

We copy from the "Emigrants Register," published in that paper, the following arrivals of Western men, all between May 14th and May 26th:

M S Earl, H Earl, N Earl, Wm Scovill, R Bennets, M Goodall, R O Chapel, W Livermore, Dr W A Chase, J Aley, E Bickford, Jacob Law, all from Iowa. 17 horse teams from Winnebago County, Ill—80 men in company. As an off-set to the favorable report brought by the News we have the statement of Frederick Stockwell, and John Webb and his two sons, all of this city, who were of this Spring's emigration. They left Denver City on the first of May, after having explored and worked in almost every part of the mining country without going into the mountains, which the snow at that date forbid their doing. They are thoroughly convinced that the whole thing is a most outrageous swindle; and as proof of their opinion they relate, that on the way home, they met a man who called himself Joseph Bradt of Wyoming county, New York, who was going toward the diggings in company with others to whom he communicated his secret, and they afterward betrayed him. He said that he had fifteen pounds of bogus "shot gold," a part of which he would strew over any bit of ground, the sight of which would enable him to sell the claim. He said that he was one of the Georgia Company that went out last fall, and that the deception was gotten up ... for the purpose of gain. He was arrested by the returning emigrants, and in his trunk the bogus metal was found. A trial was had on the spot, and Bradt was condemned to die the next morning; but during the night his captors relented, and he was subsequently released, but turned back toward the Missouri frontier. We have a portion of the bogus taken from him, now on our table where our informants left it. The story has an air of improbability; but we cannot doubt the veracity of those who tell it to us. Bradt affirmed that he bought his "shot gold," in Chicago, where it was manufactured to order. Did he lie? If not, where is the villain?

The Chicago Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary.

We are happy to learn from the annual report of the Chicago Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary, that the Institution has been highly successful in its operations during the past year. The report is a paper interesting to the benevolent, giving ample evidence of the great need of such an institution in our city.

The establishment of Infirmaries and dispensaries is intimately connected with questions of humanity and public economy, but has not received that attention on the part of the public which it deserves. Prevention of evil is infinitely better than any attempt however well directed, to ameliorate its effects. That benevolence is certainly most enlightened and politic, which furnishes the poor with necessary medical assistance before their diseases have assumed a dangerous form, and rendered the sufferers helpless and destitute. There are many among us who are dependent upon the Blind Asylum for their education, or upon the public hospitals for the recovery of their health in case of sickness or injury. Although such institutions are maintained at a large public expense, no one can fail to appreciate their importance, and to be willing to aid in their support. But we apprehend few persons consider how large a number of cases of disease there are among the poor which require skillful treatment and yet do not confine the patient to the hospital. It is the especial design of Eye Infirmaries and General Dispensaries, to meet the wants of this class of cases; to save poor patients, by early treatment, the suffering and expense of a prolonged and tedious disease; and to relieve the community of the burden of supporting them in the hospitals and asylums.

These remarks apply particularly to the poor, afflicted with inflammatory diseases of the eye, to which they are, as a class, liable; for a very mild disease, if neglected at first, as is too often the case, from fear of expense, may terminate with loss of vision. We would call the careful attention of our readers to the printed Report, from which we make a few extracts, illustrative of the great good which such institutions are capable of accomplishing:

In every large city of Europe, and in nearly all the larger cities of our own county, infirmaries have been established for the benefit of the poor, afflicted with diseases of the eye. So useful have these infirmaries been everywhere regarded, that they have always received large bequests and donations from the benevolent. In Boston, a fund of $87,000, and in New York city, one of $80,000, have been raised by private subscription, for the establishment and support of Ophthalmic Hospitals. The legislature of the State of New York granted the sum of $10,000 to the New York City Infirmary, and contributes $1,000 annually to its support. The State of Massachusetts, and, it is believed, of Pennsylvania, pursued the same liberal course, as long as the invested funds of the Infirmary were insufficient to meet its current expenses. This was not only benevolent, but politic; for it is demonstrated that a very large proportion of all the inmates of the asylums for the blind, maintained at a great expense by the different States, have lost their sight, directly or indirectly, from the effects of inflammation of the eye—a form of disease to which the poor are especially liable.

A glance at the annual report of the New York City Infirmary, for the year 1858, will show the incalculable good resulting from the charities of this noble institution. From that report we learn, that more than four thousand patients were treated, during the past year, by its surgeons; and that, since its foundation (now about thirty-eight years) more than sixty-five thousand eight hundred patients, suffering from diseases of the eye or ear, have been recipients of its blessings. The annual expense attending the treatment of these four thousand patients, applying to the New York Infirmary for aid, is only about $3,600, while fifty or sixty pupils are maintained in the Blind Asylum of this State, at a yearly cost of $12,000.

Every philanthropist must rejoice, that the blind are furnished by the public bounty with such an institution. Its establishment reflects honor upon the State, and it should be maintained at any cost. But how much more in accordance with an enlightened humanity, and in an economical view, how much more reasonable and advantageous, to provide the necessary means, comparatively so small, for institutions devoted to the prevention of blindness—and thus, in the most effective manner, avert the misery which must always attend it, as well as the burdens, private or public, it must entail.

It is not now necessary to dwell upon the sad condition of those who are deprived of their sight. The poor, who are, as it were, dependent upon it for their daily bread, have lost, to a great extent, when blind, the means of self culture, usefulness and enjoyment. They become a burden to themselves, their families, and the public.

Below we give the names of the officers of Infirmary—names that are a sufficient guaranty of its high character and usefulness:

President—Walter L. Newberry.
Vice-Presidents—Charles V. Dyer, Luther Haven.
Secretary—Samuel Stone.
Treasurer—Edward L. Holmes.
Board of Surgeons.—(Trustees ex Officio)—Consulting Surgeons—Prof. Daniel Brainard, M. D., Prof. Joseph W. Freer, M. D. Attending Surgeons—Edward L. Holmes, M. D., William H. Baltzell, M. D.

The dispensary of the Infirmary, at No. 60 North Clark Street, is open daily from 11½ to 1 o'clock, for the gratuitous treatment of the poor, afflicted with diseases of the eye or the ear.

A British Republican Paper.

A new daily paper has been established in London called the Daily London Journal. It is to be the advocate of thoroughly liberal principles—and will oppose the policy of both whigs and tories. The Journal is designed to be the central organ of British Republicanism. It will be about the size of the New York Tribune and published at the same price, viz: a penny a sheet. We hope it may succeed.

Germans in Texas.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says, that Germans are now so numerous in Texas that the most strenuous efforts are made by both the political hunters to excuse their votes, perceiving that "as go the Germans so goes the state." They, hardly able to endorse contact with slavery in its mildest form, will not unite their fortunes to the pirates who propose to re-open the slave trade. A few more years of emigration and Texas will become a free state.

Steam Navigation on the Illinois Canal—The Deep Cut.

CHICAGO, June 4, 1859.

Editors Press and Tribune:

It is with much interest that the progressive classes of society always look upon the initiatory steps in all great improvements. The spirit of progress has always had to contend with old-fogyism, and always will. The old fogy would not give up his raft for Fulton's steamboat, but stuck tenaciously to his ship. He would not trade his yoke of oxen for a locomotive, because the latter was "impracticable," and the former, though slow, was perfectly safe. An old-fashioned cradle, in his estimation, was a good deal better than one of McCormick's reapers. He once ridiculed omnibusses, and preferred walking to bussing; but, finally, he consented to put his foot into it, and became, gradually, quite in love with the thing. That suited him, and he could not think of being run off the track by railroad cars, even though drawn by horses; and he battled for his stages until the rails were down and the cars in full blast. Thus his hobbies are going, going! but he has always "one more left." He now insists upon making himself ridiculous by pitting his innocent old horse—which has been faithful so long, and ought now to be allowed to go to grass—against a modern improved steam-engine. Of course he will contend for his pony, and nobody is at all astonished—for people have come to look for old fogy's opposition, as a thing inevitable.

But, seriously, how absurd it is to contend that horse power can compete, successfully, with steam, in the accomplishment of any task of magnitude—such as conveying heavy merchandise for long distances by land, river, lake or canal. You justly remark, in your paper of the 10th, that Mr. McGinnis might have learned—if he does not already know—that steamboats can be profitably used on the Illinois and Michigan Canal. The reports of the New York and Erie Canal are conclusive on this point. The practicability of steam navigation on our canals has also been demonstrated beyond all doubt, in this State. The experiment, as such, was entirely successful, notwithstanding the decided disadvantages under which it was made. Fulton's steamboat has been improved upon considerably. It is not all impossible to improve upon the steam canal-boats first used upon the Illinois and Michigan Canal, as indicated by the remark of "Experimentor," in speaking of one of those very "first attempts"—"She has had a kind of mongrel ... career running occasionally upon the Illinois River, and very rarely through the Canal. Her appearance at the present time affords the best evidence in the world of the difference between theory and practice." Make the required improvements, and it will prove profitable as well as practicable, even in the present condition of the Canal. But an estimate made upon this basis gives but a very faint idea of what is destined soon to be accomplished, in the way of canal navigation in Illinois, or of the immense pecuniary benefits to be derived therefrom, both by the State and by the city of Chicago; or, what is pre-eminently important, the sanitary benefits to be derived by the commercial emporium of the Northwest. I refer to the completion of the Illinois and Michigan Canal as it was originally commenced—that is, as a ship canal. But a small amount of excavating, comparatively speaking, yet remains to be done, to give a channel from Chicago to New Orleans, navigable by sail vessels and steam-tugs. (One tug can do the work of several horses in the way of towing canal-boats.) This would dispense with the expensive pumping apparatus employed at Bridgeport to keep water in the Canal. The water would flow freely from Lake Michigan through the Chicago River and down through the Illinois and Michigan Canal into the Illinois River, thus carrying the filth from the city sewers down the Canal, instead of into the lake, into our water-works, into our tea and coffee, as we now have it. This will obviate the necessity of removing our water-works, which will inevitably have to be done in a few years if the city sewerage continues to be poured into the lake as at present. To prevent too much current, it might be necessary to have one or two locks to regulate the flow. Think of a pure, fresh current through the Chicago River! Look at the Thames, then look at the Chicago River, and contemplate what Chicago is destined to be (if our stagnant river does not kill every person), and it is not possible to estimate the benefit to this city of such an improvement. It would also hush the complaint on account of the bar at the mouth of your harbor, for it would remove the cause. If any one is fearful that such a process might drain Lake Michigan dry, I would respectfully refer them to Lake Erie and the falls of Niagara.

Respectfully Yours, K.

Editors Press and Tribune:

Your correspondent, "Experimentor," in yesterdays Press and Tribune, contributes a bit of history connected with attempts made "years since" to navigate our Illinois and Michigan Canal with steam, instead of horse power, and after stating only what every one knew before, that each and every one of the boats named proved "dead failures," coolly winds up by asserting that the thing can't be done, and that the people who have embarked in the enterprise on the Erie Canal will meet with no better success than "Experimentor" and his friends met with on the Illinois and Michigan Canal, "years ago." If your correspondent had taken the trouble to inform himself in regard to what has been done and is doing on the Erie canal in New York, and on the North Carolina canal, he would never have written his article. Boats are now being built in the city of Buffalo for both the above canals, with engines varying in capacity from thirty-five to eighty horse power, and this, too, after trying all sorts of experiments. The result of all these experiments has been to satisfy every one who will investigate the subject that it was practicable; the only difficulty to be overcome in the onset was the right kind of propelling machinery, with steam for the power.—That has now been brought to perfection, at least so nearly so as to satisfy men largely interested in canal navigation all over the country, to send on orders for boats and engines. On the Erie canal boats are loaded to four feet six inches only, and find difficulty in passing, even with this draft. Our Illinois and Michigan canal admits the passage of boats drawing as much.—The North Carolina canal is the same depth but with locks less capacious than ours. They use steam and find no difficulty in doing so. I contend that what has been done once can be done again. If, with the improved machinery and application of power, steam displaces horse power on the before named canals, it can be done on the Illinois and Michigan ditch. Railroads, with horse power, could not compete with canals. How can canals compete with railroads, save by the immediate substitution of steam for horse power? I give him a statement of result of the eighth trip of a canal propeller on the Erie canal last fall, which can be relied on as correct.

PROPELLER "BURBANK"—8TH TRIP BUFFALO TO ROCHESTER.

List of towing, 93 miles by horses at 25c per mile		$20 70
List of steaming, 93 miles, viz:
1½ ton coal at $4.00	$6 00
2 engineers	1 98
Oil and Water	50
		8 48
Leaving by steam one trip to Rochester		$12 22

To the above must be added half the time of the boat. "INVESTIGATOR."

Chicago, June 14, 1859.

[Investigator has made no allowance for the loss of freight capacity in a boat propelled by steam. The engine, boiler, water and fuel must certainly have weight a good many tons, and of course, that much less freight can be carried on the boat.—ED. Press and Tribune.]

CROP ITEMS.

CHRISTIAN AND SHELBY COUNTIES.

MOWEAQUA, June 11th, 1859.

Editors Press & Tribune.

Seeing several reports through your paper of the growing grain crops of the northern and southern parts of the State, I take pleasure in giving the general prospects of the same in this vicinity, which is part of Shelby and Christian counties, situated in central part of the State. The wheat crop of a great share of Christian county, (that is, the north-western part) will not exceed more than a half crop, compared with last year. In the first place, there is not as many acres by one-fourth; in the next place, one-fourth of the standing crop is cheat, therefore half a crop can be set down for half of Christian county.

Corn is late, and the frost has changed the color some, but the farmers have worked faithfully, and a good number of acres have been put in and a good crop anticipated, if the autumn proves favorable.

In Shelby county, the wheat upon the high lands bids for a fair crop, while upon the low lands it is from one-fourth to one half cheat, owing to the great quantity of wet during the winter and spring, and furthermore the necessity of the land being properly drained. Some may disagree here on this point.

Corn is backward on account of great quantities of heavy rains during the spring, but every prospect of a good crop. Frost has done but little damage in this part. Oats but few acres have been sowed in either the two counties, therefore light crop. Every bushel of Hungarian Grass Seed that could be had here has been put in, notwithstanding the high prices paid for it; therefore the farmers are beginning to think, in time, to take better care of their stock during the winter than they have heretofore. There will not be more than half the number of cattle and hogs shipped from this place there were last year, at the same time. We claim this to be a great shipping point for grain and stock.

Moweaqua is a flourishing young town, and gradually improving in growth,—through the hard times—situated on the Illinois Central Railroad, sixteen miles south of Decatur, and surrounded by as good a farming country as any point on the line of the road. We have, to comprise our town, two hotels, one steam flouring mill, one steam saw mill, ten stores, two churches, about eighty dwelling houses, and five hundred inhabitants, a good chance for plenty more to settle wishing farming lands, either improved or unimproved, or a good point for trade. There is a good number of PRESS AND TRIBUNE subscribers in this part, who depend upon your paper much, for market reports and general news.

Yours truly, G. T. WILLIAMS.

The Austrian Empire.

[From the London News, May 26.]

It is a mistake to call Austria a German Power, and she has been better described as a non-Germanic empire, having but a questionable foot-hold in Germany. Her entire population numbers about thirty-seven millions, and of these only ten millions are Germans. The rest are comprised of Hungarians, Bohemians, Poles, Croats, and Italians. Never was an empire patched up of more heterogeneous and ill-matched materials. As said by a recent German writer, the Austrian Empire is a compound of fractions of the most different nations, who never belonged to one another, who cannot be harmonised, who are not bound by any community of interest, but who thoroughly differ from one another, and thoroughly hate each other." These various nationalities are only held together by brute force, and by the bond of an iron and inflexible despotism. All the efforts of successive Austrian Governments have been directed towards crushing them as it were into an indistinguishable mass. They have been deprived of all political life. Hungary, after an independence of centuries, has been struck down into a department. In all the provinces and States of the Austrian Empires municipal institutions and local assemblies have been destroyed. All alike have been made to pass under the yoke of centralisation and prostrate themselves before a system of bureaucracy and police. It is this state of things which compels the Emperor of Austria to maintain an army which made his treasury bankrupt even before the war broke out. He is, in fact, in a permanent state of war with his own subjects, and in perpetual military occupation of his own provinces. Austrian state-craft is cunning and astute, and it plays off one nationality against another. We have so lately, and on so many occasions, spoken of the Austrian administration in Italy that we may now pass it by with a cursory glance. In Lombardy and Venice Austria has always appeared as the gaoler and the executioner. For more than forty years the Italians subject to her rule have groaned under the most brutal despotism that ever appeared on the face of the earth. But not satisfied with the oppression of her own subjects, she has imposed her system on Central and Southern Italy. She could not bear the spectacle or example of a free Italian State neighboring her own, and hence her hostility to Sardinia. She has assisted every petty German Government in suppressing liberty, gagging the press, and poisoning education at its source. In the Austrian Empire personal liberty is but a name, and there is no freedom of speech, or even of thought, for to be suspected of entertaining liberal opinions is a crime. There is neither religious freedom nor toleration. The Concordat has placed the population of Austria under the heel of Rome, has given rein to persecution, has forbidden liberty of conscience, and has surrendered the education of all classes of society into the hands of the priests. In fine, the Austrian Empire is not a nation but a system. It represents an Emperor and an army, holding thirty-seven millions of people in bondage. It is the enemy of light and liberty, and the champion of despotism, darkness and ignorance, and superstition. In all things Austria is the very opposite of free and Protestant England. Austria has been called the "curse of nations," and she is an incubus on Europe. Had it not been for the successful efforts of Austria during the last forty years to check intelligence, and to obliterate every form of liberty, we should not now have war in Europe. Free, enlightened, prosperous communities would have too well appreciated the blessings of peace, and the ambition, obstinacy, or vanity, of two or three men would not be able to spread misery and desolation over the most fertile plains of Europe. Why should the blood and treasure of England be jeopardised to uphold the system we have described? Every man must wish for the expulsion of Austria from Italy, and we feel a firm persuasion that the breaking up of the Austrian empire would be a blessing to humanity.

SUICIDE.—A young girl of about nineteen, named Mary Berry, hung herself at Decatur, on the 8th inst. Cause unknown.

ANOTHER.—A man named Perry, of Fulton Co. Ill., while suffering an from an attack of delirium tremens, jumped from the Minnesota Belle, last Thursday, between Burlington and Muscatine. His body was not found.

SOME GINSENG.—The Favorite yesterday landed at our levee four tons more of Ginseng in one lot! which will swell the amount total for the week to fourteen or fifteen tons.—St. Peter's Minn., Free Press, 8th.

THE CROPS.—We have just heard from Johnson, Linn, Clinton and Jones counties, and learn that the frosts of the 4th and 5th inst., did but little damage in those parts, except to tender garden vegetables. The prospect is fine for a heavy crop of wheat, oats and corn.—Dubuque Times.

DROWNED.—Mr. Dwight Hawks, senior partner of Hawks, Sumption & Co., of South Bend, Ind., was drowned at his brother's mill, in Waterford, on Friday last. He accidentally fell into the water and the noise of the mill drowned his cries for help. The Register says he was a highly estimable gentleman and much regretted by a large circle of acquaintances.

COMMITTED.—The colored man, named John Morrison, who is charged with the murder of a girl Mary Murphy, was examined in Pontiac last Saturday. The examining magistrate considered the evidence sufficient for Morris' commitment for trial at the next term of the Circuit Court in Livingston county. Morris was brought to this city on Saturday evening for safe keeping.—Bloomington Pantagraph.

BURGLARY.—On Monday night last the office of Mr. Allcorn, in Bogtown, Van Buren county, was entered by burglars, and the safe blown open. About $9,000 in promissory notes, $14 in money, and a large number of counterfeit bills were taken. The next night three mules were stolen in that neighborhood, which were followed to Alexandria, where they were turned loose. We heard a report yesterday that three men had been arrested in Warsaw for passing counterfeit money.—Keokuk, (Ia.) Gate City, 10th.

A YOUNG PICKPOCKET.—A car load of children sent West from the city of New York, passed through this city on the Valley R. R. yesterday, en route for Decatur, Ill. We understand that at Wabashtown, a youth belonging to the party, picked a gentleman's pocket at the depot of $130, and got off the train and is doubtless, awaiting an opportunity to return East. The philanthropy of the New Yorkers in sending out among us car loads of their young thieves and vagabonds will be fully appreciated before a great while.—Lafayette Journal, 9th.

Private European Advices to German Merchants.

[From the N. Y. Evening Post.]

It is said that German merchants of this city are in possession of private advices which render it certain that Prussia and all Germany will immediately join Austria in her struggle with France. These advices, it is asserted, are from persons in the confidence of the government, and are regarded as trustworthy.

Perhaps it is largely due to their traditional hatred of the Bonapartes, that the sympathy of the Germans of the city in behalf of Austria seems to be general and cordial. As an instance, one of them, a young and wealthy merchant has already made arrangements to go by the next steamer, and enlist in the service. He says his family was massacred by Napoleon I., and he will have revenge upon his successor.

A Mine of Antimony.

The St. Clairsville (Ill.) Gazette says that a vein of Antimony two feet thick, and almost solid, has been discovered within two miles of St. Clairsville. Antimony is one of the ingredients of type metal—worth about forty cents a pound—and it has been supposed that it was only to be found in Germany.

LATER FROM CALIFORNIA.

(From the Missouri Democrat, June 13th.)

The Overland Mail which left San Francisco, May 20th, reached St. Louis, Saturday night, June 11th, having made the journey in a little over twenty-two days.

From Mr. P. B. Smith, who came by the Overland Mail from San Francisco, and who is stopping at the Everett House, we learn the following interesting intelligence:

The Indians in the Caddo have been so troublesome of late that the entire population of Western Texas have been aroused to the highest pitch of excitement. Very lately, three prominent citizens, residing in the neighborhood of Belknap, were murdered by the Indians. A party of Texans were at once organized to pursue the savages. The Governor of Texas issued orders to the Sheriff of the county in which Belknap is located, to arrest those who were arming for the purpose of warring with the Indians in the "Reserve." The Sheriff refused to obey, resigned his commission, and organized an army of 3,000 men to prosecute the work of exterminating the Caddos in this "Reserve." The Governor hearing of the general uprising of the people, and of the intention to drive the Caddos from the Reserve, called in the aid of U. S. troops.

Major Van Doren had arrived at Jacksonburg, a town near Belknap, with three companies of dragoons, for the purpose of protecting the Reserve. The Texans were anxious for an engagement with the United States troops before they could be re-inforced, so they could carry out their designs upon the Caddos. Mr. Smith reports that Major Van Doren is endeavoring to adjust the matter peaceably, before proceeding to extremities, but that he is determined the Texans shall not carry out their designs if he can prevent it.

On his way from Fort Washita to Belknap, Maj. Van Doren encountered a large body of Appaches, and gave them battle. The fight resulted in the loss of some forty or fifty Indians killed, and twenty-eight taken prisoner. The Major states his desire to pursue "Buffalo Bill," a renowned Camanche warrior, as soon as the Texan difficulty is disposed of. The Texans are said to be well armed and determined to carry out their purpose.

CALIFORNIA POLITICS.

[San Francisco Correspondence of the Mo. Democrat.]

We are all in chaos and confusion just now about politics. The Republican Convention meets the 7th, the Anti-Lecompton the 15th, and the Administration the 22d proximo, and there is a lively time on all sides electing delegates. The Anti-Lecompton element has the ascendency in California beyond all question, but the prospect is that the Broderick Democrats and Republicans will split and thus give the Administration an easy victory. Last year the Republicans voted in a body for McKibben for Congress, but as that election was illegal, McKibben is again asking the suffrages of the people. If the Republicans voted for him in good faith a year since, they ought to vote for him now. A full ticket is to be elected from Governor down, and candidates are numerous. If the Opposition could fix on members of Congress, they might let the rest go. Time and the powerful influence of truth can alone redeem the State from the chivalry party. Denon is going around with Buchanan indorsements, backed by the Custom House Gwin faction, to aid his nomination for Governor; but his long absence from the State has alienated hosts of friends. Latham has been hard at work, and will carry an entire delegation from San Francisco. He has the anti-Gwin-U.-S.-Mint-Sacramento-Custom-House at his back. John B. Weller, the present Governor, is also a candidate, and has the hearts of the people. He is the most popular of the three. John Nugent made a slight splutter for Governor, but he stands not the ghost of a chance for election.

"Our brave young Senator, David C. Broderick, for the first time in the history of his connection with California politics, running back ten years, will appear on the stump, and canvass the State earnestly and vigorously for the success of his cause. There are thousands in the mountains who have heard of Broderick but never saw him, and the conspicuous part he has played in conventions and at the capital arranging party measures, will render his appearance before the people a taking card.

FROM VICTORIA.

The British steamer Forward at San Francisco, brings dates from Victoria to the 14th of May.

The Steamer Gov. Douglass arrived at Victoria on the 11th from Fort Hope. She brought down fifty passengers, and from $15,000 to $20,000 in gold dust. The Gazette publishes a statement of the amount of gold dust shipped from Victoria through Wells, Fargo & Co's and Freeman & Co.'s expresses, from the 11th April to the 10th of May, which sums up to $195,000.—The highest estimate of the number of miners in Columbia is 3,000 men. It is reported that a miner arrived in Victoria recently with $3,002, the result of six weeks' operation in British Columbia. The total value of merchandise imported into the colony of Victoria for the quarter ending March 31, was $503,933 25

GREAT TEMPERANCE REFORM.—It is with pleasure that we record that we understand that a grand temperance movement has taken place at the Camp. The supremacy of this great cardinal virtue has been consummated without the efforts of Oratorical Goughs or other itinerant lecturers. It seems to be a general move in that direction and covers the entire Camp. For fear, however, we might mislead our friends in relation to this "revival," we will simply call attention to the following little document, which, probably has something to do with it. It certainly, considering the subject upon which it treats, is a very tight little paper:

HEAD QUARTERS, CAMP FLOYD, U. T., May 15, 1859.

SPECIAL ORDERS, No. 126.

1. Pursuant to General Orders, No. 7, from the War Department, dated April 11th, ultimo, sutlers will forthwith remove from the post all "ardent spirits or other intoxicating drinks" kept at their establishments for sale, they reporting in writing to the commanding officer of their regiment or corps when this order has been complied with; which report will be forwarded to these Head Quarters. The sutlers for the Quartermaster's employees and for the employees of the Government contractors will make their report to this office.

2. The particular attention of sutlers is called to paragraph 2d of the General Order above referred to.

By order Bvt. Col. C. F. Smith.

CLARENCE E. BENNETT, 2d Lieut. and Adj. 10th Infantry, Post Adjutant.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Parson Brownlow, editor of the Tennessee Whig, tries to make it easy for his subscribers these hard times. He advertises to take, in payment for subscriptions to his paper, "East Tennessee bills worth twenty cents on a dollar, Shanghai chickens, hoop skirts, boot jacks, broom corn, baby jumpers, patent medicines, sucking pigs, frozen cabbage, old clothes, Colt's revolvers, second-hand tooth brushes, ginger cakes, parched corn, circus tickets, or any other article in a retail store."

—Mr. Walter Hunt, a well known inventor, died in New York on Wednesday. Among his inventions were a machine for cutting brads by a single operation; a nail machine; a flax spinning apparatus; a contrivance for making paper boxes from the pulp by one operation, and sundry improvements in fire-arms. It is also claimed that he was the original inventor of the sewing machine.

—The Paris Presse states that M. Pertz, a librarian at Berlin, has just discovered the manuscript journals of two Genoese navigators, Teodosio Dorio and Ugolino Vivaldi, who doubled the Cape of Good Hope in 1290, or two hundred and seven years before Vasco de Gama.

—A Bowery boy says his occupation is gone, for all the sewing girls now "ran wid de masheen."

—A Locofoco paper in Mississippi says that since the days of Jefferson "we have never had a more popular President than James Buchanan—with, possibly, the exception of Andrew Jackson."

—The remains of the late Alexander Hamilton, buried thirty-seven years ago in the New Haven Cemetery, were a day or two since exhumed, for the purpose of being removed to Bridgeport, where his son's remains have within a few years been deposited. The coffin, being of mahogany, was found to be almost perfectly sound, and the skeleton appeared perfect.

DR. CUTTER'S IMPROVED Skirt Supporter, Is an Article of Great Utility, which should be WORN BY EVERY FEMALE. This Supporter takes the weight of the skirt upon the Shoulders, the proper place, and relieves the stomach and abdomen, of that confinement and downward pressure, which is by the most able Physicians said to be the greatest cause of so many female diseases. By taking the weight of the clothes from off the stomach upon the shoulders, one is enabled, better to stand erect, and thereby expand the chest and breathe more freely. This, every sensible person knows, is necessary to the full enjoyment of health. There are few ladies who have worn their clothes supported by the waist who have not realized the faint, and often distressing feeling, and also weakness of back consequent thereto. Then why not from others take warning ere it be too late. Manufactured by CUTTER & WALKER, Lowell, Mass. A. GRAVES, (Successor to C. T. Atkinson,) No. 78 Lake Street, Chicago, Wholesale and Retail Agent for the sale of the above goods.

COPPER TOE.— Mitchell's Patent Metallic Tips —FOR— BOOTS AND SHOES. WADSWORTH & WELLS Wholesale Dealers in BOOTS AND SHOES, 60 LAKE STREET, CHICAGO, Are the exclusive owners of this Patent into and for the States of Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, and will dispose of exclusive town or county rights to dealers for the sale or manufacture of Boots and Shoes with Metallic Tips applied in said States. And are also the sole Agents for the sale of Town and County Rights into and for the State of Illinois. WADSWORTH & WELLS Will keep, in connection with their other general stock, A Complete and Full Assortment of METALLIC TIPPED BOOTS AND SHOES. And will also keep the Metallic Tips to supply the demands of manufacturers in these States at prices regularly established by the Patentees, and from which no deviation is made in the United States. All infringements of their rights in this Patent will be dealt with according to law.

SOMETHING NEW!!! MITCHELL'S PATENT Metallic-Tipped Boot and Shoe. An improvement has been applied to Boots and Shoes, by which a Great Saving in Expense is made. Every Boot and Shoe Dealer knows that Children will wear out at the toe the best constructed shoe in four to six weeks, and that it has hitherto defied the skill of manufacturers to obviate this difficulty. THE "METALLIC TIP" meets and overcomes it. A small piece of copper is neatly fastened to the toe of the Boot or Shoe, affording a complete protection to it, and rendering the efforts of the most inveterate stumper ineffectual to kick or wear it out. We present this invention with the fullest knowledge of and experience in its Practical Utility. Having now for nearly two years been subjected to the severest tests, it has by its own intrinsic merits, actually surmounted every objection that could possibly be brought against it, as the accompanying certificates, which are but a fair average of hundreds of others, will abundantly corroborate. We have no hesitation in saying that the Metallic-Tipped Shoe is destined to entirely supercede, for Children and Youth, the old style; and we consider it a moderate statement, that one pair of the Metallic Tipped will wear out three pairs of the old style, making a saving of nearly two-thirds in the expense of shoes. MESSRS. WADSWORTH & WELLS, OF CHICAGO, Have been appointed Agents for the sale of the Boots and Shoes, and are authorized to dispose of Town and County Rights. Communications addressed to them or the undersigned will receive proper attention. CHASE, McKINNEY & CO. N. B.—This invention is a complete protection from the cutting of the Prairie Grasses, and is especially adapted to Miners' use, and all occupations which particularly expose the toe of the boot or shoe to being cut or worn.

LOTS FOR SALE AT LAKE FOREST, ILLINOIS.
The lots belonging to LIND UNIVERSITY, and now offered for sale present favorable inducements to persons wishing to enjoy the pleasures of country life within an hours ride of the City of Chicago.
They are located at Lake Forest, on the west bank of Lake Michigan, elevated one hundred feet above the level of the Lake, about twenty-six miles north from Chicago, on both sides of the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroads, abound in mineral and other springs and natural beauties, and in the opinion of our best physicians the advantages for a healthful resort and residence are not to be exceeded by any on the sea shore or in the Western country.
A fine Academy building (the preparatory department of Lind University) has been erected the past season, and is now in successful operation in charge of S. F. Miller, A. M.
A new Passenger Depot, a Store and more than a dozen dwellings have been erected within the past year.
In addition to the regular through trains an accommodation train taking passengers on commutation tickets at half the regular fare, leaves Chicago every evening, and returns every morning, thus affording business men an opportunity to spend the day in the city and be with their families at night.
A good hotel has been opened and in successful operation for more than a year past.
The Lake Forest Association have also a few lots, mostly for farming purposes, lying near the town, containing from three to ten acres each, which will be sold at reasonable prices, and on usual time.
The subscriber has, within the past year, sold over twelve thousand dollars worth of the lands belonging to the University and Association, and proposes to sell a few more lots to persons who wish them for immediate improvement and cultivation.
For further particulars apply to Peter Page, No. 22 Washington street or address him through the Post Office. Box 226, Chicago, Illinois. PETER PAGE, Agent.

Great Excitement at Pomeroy.

[From the Meigs County (O.) Telegraph, May 9.]

On Tuesday last, our town was thrown into a most intense state of excitement by what was supposed to be a veritable "Fugitive Slave Case."

There has been a very pretty girl here attending school for two or three years past, to whom one of the F. F. V.'s stands in the double relation of father and master. As master, he sent her here to go to school, and as the acknowledged father, he has paid her boarding and tuition.

The girl is very much attached to her father, but from the fact that he is engaged in buying up slaves in Virginia, and shipping them South, she has had the good sense to refuse to return to that State for fear she might share the same fate. Last winter a strong effort was made to induce her to return to Virginia, and large promises were made to her by her father, if she would do so, but she declined. As a last resort, her mother was sent over to persuade her to go, but she still refused. Her mother, on her return, was shipped south; the colored people, and others here, believing that it was the intention to ship both mother and daughter, if the girl could have been obtained.

On the day above mentioned, the father, in company with a very hard looking customer, both well armed with revolvers, called to see the girl. She, having full confidence in her father, who had always acknowledged and treated her as his daughter, was not at all alarmed—in fact, it is said she had written to him to send, or come and bring her some money—but some of her friends, believing that the design was to kidnap her, raised such a cry of "murder," and all other cries, that the town was instantly alarmed, and quite a crowd was soon congregated to ascertain the cause of the row. The Virginians solemnly protested their pacific intentions—the father protesting that he had come to visit the girl and pay her bills, without any intention of taking her away; that, in fact, he had emancipated her, and in proof of this, showed what purported to be a deed of emancipation, which he offered to give her. The instrument, however, on examination, proved to be of no validity. This fact tended to increase the suspicion. All things, however, would have gone off smoothly but for the fury of one of the negroes, who had a private wrong of his own to avenge.

It seems that after the birth of the girl in question, her mother, with the consent of her master, married this excited individual, who, by his efforts, had bought and paid for his own body and soul, and had made a payment or two on his wife, whose freedom he had also purchased, and who was the mother of this girl before he purchased and married her.

Tawney as his skin is, he seems to have been somewhat outraged by the sale of his wife, after he had lived with her fourteen years, and had partly paid for her. He claimed that he had other grievances—that he had detected between his wife and the gentleman sundry peccadilloes, and that according to the law in the Sickles case, he had a right to kill the gentleman, and meant to do it instanter.

Hereupon the chivalry of Virginia found safety in the house of a colored man, drawing the curtains of the windows to prevent being shot through them. Here was exhibited some of the tallest specimens of humble supplication ever before poured forth from the fear-shriven soul of mortal. Gods, men and negroes were implored to save him from the wrath of this furious "chattel."

At length, after the crowd had been excessively amused, and the Virginians scared, it was proposed that both parties ground their arms and come to a truce. Whereupon the Virginians surrendered their revolvers into the hands of Esq. Lee, and the darkey his into the hands of Sherriff Smith, and the war ended.

The Virginians, pale and trembling, with the awful vision of the terrible darkey still haunting them, and accompanied by the "Squire," who was to escort them to "Old Virginia's shore," and there, in due form deliver up the revolvers, reached the ferry, where so terribly were they alarmed that they offered fifty dollars to the ferryman if he would land them "safely on the other side," before the darkey could get at them.

We are happy to say that the Virginia gentleman has since sent to his daughter a genuine deed of manumission, and she is now free. She is almost pure white, intelligent and beautiful—such an article as would readily sell at from two to five thousand dollars in the South, according to the abundance or scarcity of that kind of goods in the market. So that the gentleman has, according to the ethics of slavery, sacrificed that amount of property.

A Case of Jealousy and Proposed Murder.

A case of foolish jealousy coupled with a proposition to commit the dark crime of murder, recently transpired in our neighboring village of Crestline. We had intended to give the names of the parties to this transaction, but at the earnest solicitation of one interested we have concluded to withhold proper names. Some two years ago a man and his wife, with their little family, from an eastern state, settled in Crestline. For the present we call the gentleman Mr. A. He was, and is passionately attached to his wife; but his domestic happiness has been sadly marred by the frequent calls of a lawyer from Mansfield, who paid, as he thought, too many attentions to his wife. The husband brooded in silence over the supposed inconstancy of his bosom companion. He never intimated suspicion to her or any one else until the thought of dispatching his hatred rival took possession of his brain. But the query was, how could he accomplish this and escape detection. At last, as he supposed, he hit upon a plan. He went to a brakeman on the P. F. W. & C. R. R., with whom he was on terms of great intimacy, and to him communicated his suspicions, and proposed to give him $125 in money, a gold watch and a suit of fine clothes, as a consideration for killing the Mansfield lawyer; or, as he expressed it, "to make buzzard's victuals of him." The money and watch were delivered; the brakeman entered into contract, apparently in good faith, but went the next day and informed the lawyer of all that happened. Matters rested for a few days. One evening as the husband was approaching his home, he beheld the lawyer leaving the house, and on entering saw his wife hurriedly shut a bureau drawer. On her absence he examined the drawer—imagine his surprise at discovering in it a large quantity of gold coin, which he supposed had purchased his wife's chastity. He was almost frantic, but said nothing, still hoping to hear of the lawyer's early decease as per arrangement with the brakeman.

On the next morning, the lawyer and brakeman, by an understanding with the wife, who was "posted" in the whole affair, called at the house; the wife received them in her quiet, lady-like way; the husband treated them with great coldness and indifference, and began to regard the brakeman with suspicions of infidelity to this trust. The wife quietly went to the bureau, took therefrom the bag of gold, and turning to her husband, said:

"Here is $8,741 which may attorney has, after a great amount of labor, collected as my legacy, from the administration of my uncle, whom you do not know, but who died in New Jersey, some eleven years ago. His kindly office, for which he has retained a reasonable fee, has affected you with a jealousy. I hope this may teach you never to impute crimes to others, unless you have better evidence than mere suspicion of their guilt."

The brakeman then arose and handed over the watch saying: "This is the price set upon the lawyer's head, but after an investigation, I concluded that he didn't need killing, and I herewith return it to you, hoping you will become a wiser and a better man."

The reader may imagine the effect produced upon the jealous husband by being simultaneously convinced of his wife's fidelity and possessed of $8741 in gold.—Crawford County O., Forum.

Woman's Grit—Fifty Men Driven by two Women.

By the arrival of a gentleman from up the river we are put in possession of the following facts, and are assured that the narrative is strictly true. Mr. Mead, who owns a dam and a mill at the Forks of Black River, is now absent from home and had left in charge his wife and an adopted daughter, Ellen. The drivers of the logging firm of Whitcomb, Morse & Morgan, about fifty in number, came down and found some logs in Mead's dam with the mark of their company upon them; whereupon they set to with their axes to cut the dam away. Mrs. Mead, hearing the row, hastened out, followed by Ellen, each with a rifle, one loaded with heavy buckshot and the other with balls, and taking a favorable position, they cocked their pieces pointed them at the men and told them not to strike another blow or some of them would be dead men! The choppers incontinently left! Mrs. Mead then agreed to compensate them for all the logs that might be in the dam belonging to them.

Subsequently the drivers seized a young man in the employ of Mr. Mead whom they charged with stealing some provisions belonging to the drivers. Ellen again sallied out rifle in hand, and told them not to hurt a hair of his head and they didn't. They let the boy go. The men very suddenly discovered that they had got into a bad row of stumps, and Mrs. Mead and daughter were left masters of the field. Here's womans grit for you—fifty men driven by two women! Can revolutionary history show a more brilliant exploit!—Jackson Co. Banner.

Wonders Will Never Cease.

It has long been a mooted question whether any living thing could long survive in the human stomach, and it has been maintained that the gastric juice operates only upon that which is dead. Numerous cases have been cited, and apparently well sustained, as to the truth of this theory, and here is one in our midst just as marvelous as many others which have been the subject of much newspaper comment, both pro and con:

A son of Mr. Chas Davis, residing in Gould's Court, leading from Montgomery, near Light street, has caused the family great uneasiness for three years past, in consequence of his being subject at times, to spasms and terrible fits. Physicians were consulted, but all their investigations failed to reveal the cause that produced the malady. Yesterday afternoon, about three o'clock, when entering the house, the lad was seized with the symptoms of his malady, and, in a fit of retching, threw up upon the floor, a live frog, about two inches in length. The frog hopped gaily about the floor until secured by the family. Instant relief was experienced by the lad. His name is William Davis, and he is about ten years of age. He has no recollection of the time the frog was taken into his stomach, but his father thinks it was swallowed about three years ago with his drink, when he was first afflicted with fits.—Baltimore Patriot, 10th

Successful Suit for Freedom by a White Girl.

A most interesting suit was completed on Saturday, in the Fifth District Court, Judge Eggleston presiding. It was the case of a suit for freedom from slavery, the plaintiff being a white girl, sixteen or seventeen years of age, with a complexion bordering on the brunette, named Alexiana Morrison, and the defendant a slave dealer of Jefferson City, named James White. The girl, about a year and a half ago, ran away from White's slave yard, where she had been several months, and was protected by some citizens of Carrolton, whom she informed that she had been kidnapped from Arkansas and sold into slavery, though she was born free and of white parents. An appeal to the Jefferson Parish Court was made, but the jury did not agree to a verdict, and the venue was changed to New Orleans. The trial in the Fifth District Court occupied three days, chiefly employed in the efforts of the counsel on both sides in regard to the admission and rejection of evidence. For the plaintiff, the chief testimony was that of scientific gentlemen, showing that there was an absence about her of evidence of African descent. And for the defendant, the evidence was narrowed down to the single bill of sale, which be produced from a person in Arkansas, who was not present. The Judges charge to the jury was accepted to by defendant's counsel from beginning to end. The jury deliberated but a few minutes, and brought in a verdict for the plaintiff.—New Orleans Bulletin, May 23.

Revelations of Naval Blunders.

[From a Washington Dispatch.]

Shubrick, as Commodore of the Paraguay expedition, ordered the report to be made to him of all the details of the expedition for the future guidance of the Government, and thus it was disclosed in the general report to the Secretary of the Navy, that the vessels were provided with ammunition but for seven hours rapid firing; so that if a fight occurred, the expedition must have been defeated for the want of powder and ball. This disclosure makes a sensation here, and will be investigated at next session of Congress.

Religion and Politics.

A Washington correspondent of the Evening Post writes:

"To show your readers how the 'Democracy' of Washington carry religion into politics, I will mention that of the seven Aldermen elected yesterday five are Catholic, none Protestants, and two with no avowed religion. Of the Common Council thirteen are Catholic, five are Protestant, and three are nothing. And yet this is a decidedly Protestant city. Of about fifty churches among us, not more than seven are Catholic. G."

THIS DAY RECEIVED,— VOLUME ELEVENTH OF THE
BENTON'S ABRIDGMENT OF DEBATES.
[From the Wisconsin Farmer.]
"Coming to us full-laden with the rich treasures of American Political History, it studies anew the fires of patriotism, and gives fresh sanction to the just pride we feel in the great statesmen, whose sublime oratory not only imparted new lustre to the American name, but made American literature classic forever."
[From the Baltimore Republican.]
"This work will live in the memory of nations as long as the language endures. Every man, and, most of all, every public man, should have it. It is the best history of the nation that will ever be written."

REFRIGERATORS!!
LYMAN'S PATENT REFRIGERATORS,
For Sale by Hamilton, Fuller & Co.,
194 LAKE STREET.
The public will remember the test of Refrigerators last fall, at the Fair of the Chicago Mechanics' Institute, and the triumph of Lyman's Patent. After a thorough trial, the Committee awarded to H. F. & Co. a diploma for the best Refrigerator. A large number of citizens present assented to the Committee's decision, declaring Lyman's Refrigerator in every respect, the best on exhibition.
H. F. & Co. manufacture these Refrigerators to order for hotels, butchers, grocers, restaurants, and have on hand a large assortment arranged for private families and boarding houses. They also manufacture and have on hand beer pumps, beer cocks, water coolers, ice cream freezers, balls, &c., &c.
Especial attention is called to Brown & Kent's Patent Summer Cook Stove. The Patentees received a silver medal and diploma for the same at the last Fair of the Chicago Mechanics' Institute. Let every one call and examine it.

CHICAGO.

IOWA.

A lively time is anticipated in the approaching Democratic Convention of Iowa. The Dubuque Express and Herald, (Douglas paper) utters a warning to its followers that an effort will be made to procure the endorsement of the Buchanan Administration. The Buchaneers, it alleges, have been active, and have as they suppose gained sufficient strength in the Convention to insist on their point. In case the endorsing is not done to their taste they will, in all probability, hold a Convention of their own. Under these circumstances, the Express and Herald says it will be the duty of the Convention to "clearly and fully endorse the principle of "Popular Sovereignty and non-intervention, "lay out the policy which should rule the "State government, and then stop."

On the other hand, the Dubuque North-West and the Davenport Democrat feel sure that a general endorsement of the Administration "would meet the enthusiastic approbation of "the Democracy of the State."

VALTELLINA.

Valtellina, or the Valtelline district, in which, as stated by the Arago's news, insurrectionary movements have taken place, is a mountainous province or "delegation," of the Lombardo-Venetian Kingdom, lying east of Lake Como and south of the Swiss canton of the Grisons. It is designated on the American maps as Sondrio. It belongs naturally to the Grisons, of which it was a dependency until the year 1797, when it presented itself for admission to the Cisalpine Republic lately created by Napoleon Bonaparte. The Grisons claimed its allegiance to themselves, but Napoleon adjudged all disputed territories to be independent and incorporated Valtellina in the new Republic. In 1815 the Congress of Vienna ...
